

Heart rate variability was analysed in seven New Zealand White isolated rabbit hearts. Myocardial ischemia and reperfusion of isolated heart affect HRV parameters in manner which can be described by certain well known and standardized HRV parameters.